BREAST FAMILY HISTORY CLINIC

Women with a family history of breast cancer often have lots of concerns about their own risk and consequently have constant anxiety. They frequently overestimate their risk and therefore the need for professional advice can be of a great help in alleviating their anxiety. Women with a strong family history or carriers of the faulty breast cancer gene, however have several options to consider and difficult decisions to make.

Mr Hisham Hamed, Consultant Breast Surgeon, is starting a new Breast Clinic at the London Bridge Hospital which will provide specialist advice to women with a family history of breast and related cancers. This new service will be a part of the existing specialist, high quality and personalised breast care service that is provided with a team of breast specialists in cancer and other breast problems both women as well as men.

HOW TO FIND US: London Bridge Hospital is situated on the South Bank of the Thames. We are next to London Bridge mainline and underground stations with easy access to the city. Please note: no right hand turn from Borough High street into Duke Street Hill.
