Pacemaker implantation is now one of the most common forms of heart surgery with over 40,000 people having the device fitted in 2013 in England alone.

The London Pacemaker and Defibrillator Centre located within our newly refurbished Cardiology department prides itself on both the quality of care we offer as well as the clinical expertise of our staff. All of our team of specialist Cardiac Physiologists have gained accreditation from the International Board of Heart Rhythm Examiners (IBHRE) – widely recognised internationally as the most prestigious qualification in the field.

We understand that the initial prospect of having a pacemaker or defibrillator can be challenging. We therefore ensure that all our patients are supported throughout the whole process, from pre implant to follow up clinic checks. This on-going support is of vital importance, especially as pacemaker patients must be seen every year and defibrillator patients every 3-6 months.
